Outcome 1 – Children have a strong sense of identity The children in preschool have come so far in the short time that they have been here. They are building relationships with the educators and are starting to form some special friendships in which they can share ideas, build on new ideas and work towards a shared goal. We will be spending lots of time learning how to share what we want with those around us and learning how our actions impact the people around us.	Outcome 2 – Children are connected with and contribute to their world We will be exploring our identity. We started off by asking parents to bring in a picture of their family, and the children will talk about who is in their families.		Outcome 3 – Children have a strong sense of wellbeing The children have had a great time exploring the environment both inside and outside in the preschool. The children are recognising what their bodies are capable of and are enjoy making up games, building relationships and movement skills.
Outcome 4 – Children are confident and involved learners The children have been very involved in their own learning getting very creative with lots of drawing, colouring, cutting, pasting and gluing happening. They are becoming more confident and are starting to try new things and explore the different ways these things can be used.			Outcome 5 – Children are effective communicators The children have been expressing themselves through drawing and writing and with lots of different mediums like playdough and pencils, textas. These are the starting blocks for learning to write. We will continue to explore different ways to make meaning on paper.
